

There's nothing romantic

about a toxic gold mine.

This Valentine's day, join Alaska Natives and commercial fishermen in urging the EPA to protect Bristol Bay—the world's most valuable wild salmon fishery.

Alaska's Bristol Bay supports the world's largest remaining wild salmon fishery — feeding millions around the world, and supplying thousands of jobs to hard-working fishermen. The fishery is at risk from a proposed gold and copper mine — the Pebble Mine — that would generate up to 10 billion tons of toxic mine waste. No wonder 80% of Bristol Bay residents are against it. And, no wonder 50 leading jewelers have pledged not to buy gold from the proposed Pebble Mine. Join us in urging the EPA to initiate the Clean Water Act's 404(c) process to protect our fishery, our lives and livelihoods. www.ourbristolbay.com

Alaska Independent Fishermen's Marketing Association | Bristol Bay Regional Seafood Development Association | Nunamta Aulukestai

PLEASE EPA—LET'S PROTECT BRISTOL BAY.